Norway People Should Not Delay
If your kidneys are inflamed,
Don't stand around and do nothing.
Like a fire it will soon be beyond control.

You will get the alarm in time—
Backache, or dizziness or disorders of the urine.

Heed the warning.
Give your kidneys a rest by living more carefully.

Use Doan's Kidney Pills to help stamp out the cause.

Profit by Norway woman's experience.
Mrs. Mary Gammon, 14 Beal St., says:
"I have kept Doan's Kidney Pills on hand for years, in fact, ever since I first took them nearly ten years ago. The symptoms I noticed at that time indicated kidney complaint. There was a dull, heavy ache across the small of back and often attacks of dizziness came over me. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got from Frank Kimball's Drug Store, proved fine in relieving me of these troubles. I take Doan's off and on now and couldn't wish for anything better to keep my kidneys in good condition."

No Americans, dances, theatres, for over a year, it sure will seem good to get back to the U. S. A. We were very glad to hear of the Carroll boys' success in France. It must have been good to have had a chance at the Huns. Very often I see pieces in the papers about the 26th Div. and I always say, "That has a company from my home town in it."

I worked for a week in the hospital here, taking care of the fellows who had the "flu" and then I got it myself. I was sick for about two weeks and just got back to duty. You know we were quarantined at the time the peace news arrived, so all the celebration we had was with our lungs and we sure did make a noise with our mess gear. All that heard our little racket was sugar cane fields and bamboo and a few lonely palms. The spirit was there, even if we were thirty miles from a city, and a few days' cruise from civilization.

Well, it's nearly time for "chow" and then clean up for tomorrow's inspection.

The following letter was written by Sergt. Milo E. McAllister who enlisted at Norway where he was working in 1917. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. McAllister of East Stoneham.

Dear Parents: Well, I will try once more to write a few lines to let you know I am well and having a great time in our new camp sight.

We reached this camp just at mess time and that is what we all was looking for after the hike.

Last night when we got here it was too late to come in camp, we stayed in what I would call our corn shed, it made me think of the fall we were in Fryeburg.

I guess it rained most of the time here by what the people say, it surely was raining when we came in, but a little rain does not bother a good soldier you know.

We had some time while we were coming on the boat, all the comforts of home. I was one of the lucky ones and did not get sick at all. Our boat was one of the best ones that anyone has sailed in. It was like riding in a house all of the time.

When we came through one of the cities today on our way to camp we stopped to rest and all you could see was children and the first thing they learn to say is "let me have a cigarette." There has been a number of children here all day with candy, nuts, grapes and other things to eat and every time they give you change, it is like a bunch of junk to me beside of our money, but I have learned the value of it all so am not bothered much.

Everytime I get a few minutes to spare I try to learn a few new words, but it is a job to remember them.

While I have time I will try and finish this letter I started to send it the ninth, but did not have any ink so could not. I have not even had a cold yet and that is saying something because it rains every day and the sun never comes out for more than ten minutes.

This afternoon I have got to do my washing if it is not to cold. This place makes me think of home. There are a few hills and farms you can see once in a while.

I have learned some of this language with the help of the children in this town but it is some job believe me.

I have seen the largest castle here, the one that King George built. It looks just like the picture in the old history.

There are some fine farms and gardens here, every piece of land is cultivated and they raise about the same crops as we do at home.

I must close so please excuse this pencil and poor writing.

Extracts from letters written by Sergt. Alfred J. Dyer Co. D. 103 Inf. to his wife, Mrs. Maggie Dyer, Norway.

My company are in the firing lines now, still hard at it. Conditions are not so bad as it is raining all the time and our conditions are shell holes.

Scott Palmer was wounded yesterday it was slight. He was shot in the leg, enough to get a Blighty for two weeks. I will be able to get back even for a change of clothes to a bath, as the boys will not let me alone, also I have not been dry for two weeks. I saw a funny stunt pulled off yesterday. We have some boys that speak German. Two of the boys strolled over the wires and visited Fritz and they began talking to them. First thing we knew there was a bout fifty walking across in No-Man's Land. These boys invited them out to have coffee with us. Two started at first, then they began to straggle over until we had nearly one hundred. That will show you how hard the Fritz want to fight, they are sick of it and are giving themselves up for they know it is a case of getting licked.

Am glad to say that I feel well although I have been through some terrible shell fire the last few days with plenty of gas mixed in. The strain is telling on me all but we are cheerful.

Gug L. Sweet is our Captain now, he had a lot of hard luck, but he got out at last and the boys are so tickled for we have always wanted him.

It is still raining and I am beginning to feel it. I do not feel so young as I use to. I feel like an old man. It would not be so hard if one could get cleaned up oftener. At night you cannot sleep as the cooties keep us lively, I am all sores where where I have a cup. But are large they are healthy things and especially do the wounded men have a hard time with them.

Nov. 11.—Am first rate. Our boys are still in the lines making big drives. They have gone so fast the last two days that I could not get their rations to them. You see as Fritz retreats, he blows up the roads and bridges and it makes it hard for the mule teams. His big guns are continually shooting the roads to stop reserves coming up, but the boys get there just the same. When I got to the lines last night our boys were nearly starved as I could not reach them for two days and that is a long while to fight on an empty stomach. Carrying rations these days is rather a proposition for I never know where to go. The French people are very happy just now, as they expect peace very soon. Poor men, I pity them for they are mostly men from 40 to 45. Some of them have not seen their families for two and three years. Their fighting is wonderful after four years' fighting.

Fritz is playing a losing game. Their courage has completely gone. Just got orders to move all kitchen up four kilometers. We have been living lately on Fritz's potatoes, meat, bread, sausages and a little of his. Our own cooties just rolled in a 59 gallon barrel. You ought to see the boys.

P. S. All guns stopped. We are a happy crowd.

This letter was written by Howard L. Chick, Camp Ordinary B. R. Art's Reserve on his journey to Paris to his parents Mr. and Mrs. W. Chick.

Dear Mother: You want hear from me again probably for some time for I am going on quite a long trip. I will write you from there I think and tell you where I am. I don't think it will be permissible. It is a change of a life and the best of it is, it is all at the expense of the government except what I spend for pleasure. I thought I would drop you just a line before I go so you won't worry if you don't get a letter for a while.

I am feeling fine now have an appetite like a pig.

Dear Folks: You are probably wondering why you don't hear from me. I have been on a trip extending nearly the length of France. I will tell you about it the best I can for there are certain things I won't be allowed to write in a letter.

You got my cards from Paris, no doubt, so they will be a better description of the city than I could give. We had only one day in Paris but I had a chance to see some of the city. You should see the traffic. No traffic rules at all. Autos dodging anywhere and everywhere.

Enough for Paris.
We went from Paris to Marseille, way down on the Mediterranean Coast. If you look on the Map of France you can see where it is. Marseille is a quiet though beautiful city situated for the most part on the side of a hill. We staid there one day. I was so busy I did not have time to send any cards from there. The climate is much warmer than it is here but the nights are rather chilly. The most interesting part of the whole trip, though, was coming back. We had the good fortune to come back by automobile. I want mention the names of any of the places we came through for it will be nice to have something new to tell you when I come home. Southern France certainly has no equal in scenery. The whole southern part of France is just one vast garden with vineyards, olive orchards, flowers, high mountains, deep valleys with winding rivers. It is simply indescribable.

Soldiers' Letters

SOME GLIMPSES OF THE LATE WAR AS WRITTEN BY OUR HOME BOYS.

This letter from Priv. A. F. Swift, U. S. M. C. R. 128 Co., 7th Regt., San Juan Hill, Santiago de Cuba, to his mother, Mrs. Grace A. Swift, written Nov. 22.

My dear Mother: Received your letter this A. M. telling of Norway's celebration, Nov. 11th, when news of the armistice being signed reached there. Believe me, I am proud to tell of my home town to any of the fellows for they all like to brag of their home towns. Of course all the boys here were glad of peace, but there is an awful feeling of disappointment among us for we did not see action in Europe and have never been so blue about a thing in my life. Enlisted on the day war was declared, so I would have first chance. Luck was against me, that's all the explanation.

I have been here in Cuba over a year now, doing guard duty, and of course we were needed here to see that sugar cane could be cut, and sugar mills kept in operation. Anyone who knows anything of a Latin-American republic, know what would happen if we had not been here.

Well, oranges are ripe, and bananas are at their best, grape fruit also, we eat them just like oranges. We never drink water, that is, we seldom drink water. We have many drinks here to replace it, which is far better than one's health.

We have rumors of "shooting off" for the States soon. I hope so, but it will sure be some change for us in weather. It's hotter here all winter than at home in the summer.

No Americans, dances, theatres, for over a year, it sure will seem good to get back to the U. S. A. We were very glad to hear of the Carroll boys' success in France. It must have been good to have had a chance at the Huns. Very often I see pieces in the papers about the 26th Div. and I always say, "That has a company from my home town in it."

The whole southern part of France is just one vast garden with vineyards, olive orchards, flowers, high mountains, deep valleys with winding rivers. It is simply indescribable.

The first night we camped on the outskirts of a big city. While we were stopping in the city a Frenchman came up to me and spoke in excellent English. I asked him where he learned to speak English and he said he had been in San Francisco for ten years. Well, as I said, we camped just outside the city. The next day we got up at six and pushed on. For miles and miles ahead we could see the road leading straight up the side of a mountain. When we reached the top we would find the ruins of an old castle or chateau as they are called. They were probably hundreds of years old, just like those you sometimes see in the movies.

On the way down the mountain side we could look way down below on both sides into deep ravines where you could barely see a river winding along. It was certainly a sight worth seeing and I shall never forget it. Sometimes we would find villages at the top or on the side of mountains. The people would run out and wave their hands and shout to us. "Americans," "Americans." We seemed to be popular with them, especially when we bought something. They knew we had lots of money so they would "soak" us. At one place we paid thirty francs for a supper and it made us sick at that. The second night we camped beside a park in a town. Must tell you about the street cars we saw. After we went to bed we heard a puffing coming up the street. We looked down the street and what should we see but a locomotive coming drawing the street cars after it.

Well, at six the next day we pushed on again. I must tell you about one town we passed through. We saw a high mountain before us. We went up a winding road way to the top and entered a town entirely surrounded by an old wall. You have seen pictures of old Roman towns which were surrounded by walls and around the walls were moats or ditches which were filled with water when the town was attacked. Well, this town was just like that. There was a gate through the wall for an entrance and one for exit and that was the only means of getting in or out of the town. Draw bridges were placed at each gate across the moat which in case of attack were raised so that entrance to the town was impossible. I have often read in Greek History about walled towns like this but I had never hoped to see one. It was certainly worth seeing.

We passed through several more towns and cities that day and at night camped in the street of a large city. We had an excellent supper and breakfast at a Red Cross Station. The next day we drove on until nine at night and again camped in a large town. It rained hard all night which wasn't at all pleasant but I slept soundly until morning. Well, this was our last day on the road and we made good time until we reached camp, pretty nearly all night. The trip covered six hundred miles which we made in three and a half days. That was going some wasn't it. When I got home I can tell you more which I am not allowed to write to you.

OUR SERVICE And What it Means to You

We Have a Joint Interest in This Community
And We Wish to Join With You in Every Way to Promote the Communities' Interests

In a sense, this community is like a farm—it pays according to the way in which it is treated.

The successful farmer co-operates with his farm. Knowing that certain soil elements are necessary to healthy crop growth, he sees to it that these elements are maintained.

The same principle holds good in community development. Our community is composed of two closely-related elements—town and country. They are both essential to healthy community growth. Neglect or mistreatment of either of them by the other affects both—it injures the whole community. Both elements must be maintained.

Accomplishing this is simply a matter of sincere co-operation among all of us in this community.

Our idea of our own part to play for community good in a business way is—
To sell only such implements as have the quality to give high grade results in the field.

To consider good performance by our implements as a part of our obligation.

To sell every implement at a fair price.

To practice the square deal towards each and every customer.

LOCAL PICKUPS

Domiciliary calls of the Universalist Church are now on and Steve Cummings is wearing his good clothes every day.

Phineas Jacques: President Wilson is now having a glorious time playing to the gallery in Europe.

"Plenty of sugar now; got three barrels for Christmas," said Mrs. John Fletcher in a happy-vane the other day.

Norway and Paris are preparing for a big hurrah and figuratively to tear their shirt when the boys from "over there" come home.

Mother was as still in the kitchen as a rat in a cheese and I tip-toed up and found her spreading "frosting" on a cake with a putty-knife. I expect the cake is a birthday affair.

The people are practically unanimous on two points: First, all prices shall come down; and second, that each one's own wages shall be increased. How this is to be accomplished, I do not know, but it is what everyone is wanting.

Phineas Jacques: "Yes, I know all about it. Wit is the discovery of congruity in the incongruous, while humor is the discovery of incongruity in the congruous and Charles Kimball uses each in a horse trade and makes money."

We recently mentioned that Frank Jewell was looking for work. Shortly after the paper was out, he was at the barber shop looking for me with a rifle in his hand. That is the way many of my generous impulses and benevolent endeavors are received.

Stella Pike and her sister Helen of Old Orchard are to spend the winter at 21 Pine Street, Portland. Miss Pike and H. D. Smith ran the Norway National Bank for many years. She left a couple or so years ago and it takes one male and three females to fill the vacancy.

"If a black cat comes to you, it insures luck," thus said Frank Jewell. "One came to our house just before I fell through the bridge and Sadie said it would bring good luck and I immediately went through the bridge and got smashed up. I don't call that good luck, but maybe it was."

The rattle of a pane of glass in door is shiftlessness. I'm glad they have barred one of the doors into the express office. The glass in it always rattled and disturbed me when I opened or closed it. It may have disturbed others. There are other doors on the street that should be barred or the glass reset.

Father and son worked 42 hours and got $37.40. How much did they receive per hour? The agreed price for cutting wood was $3.50 per cord. How many cords were cut? It will cost $2.00 per cord to get the wood to the door at the farm where it will cost as much more to fit it for the stove. Hence a cord of wood at the door costs $7.50 and when it gets to the printing office in the village it will spoil a ten-dollar bill to say nothing about stamper.

The northwest show window at C. F. Kidlon's store was the days being trimmed. On the fourth day the window still unfinished, we ventured to ask why he was so slow about it. Charles said it was for the same reason that Little Sim Conard didn't like Norway: "Too many—people round about the store. I can't get it done. I couldn't get time to work on the window display. It was finished in due time and looked fine with Christmas cheer and fancy dishes."

Bro. Evans of Dover, Me., helps us out. Here it is: "A spinster is a woman who has never been married, especially in popular usage, one no longer young; an old maid, so called as supposed to be occupied in spinning her wedding outfit."

"The school boy's tip of a ribbon is a present and the college's dabble (money) are due to that rash violation of classic ground which an every-day familiarity seems so frequently to induce amongst these embryo wits and philosophers. But these words owe their origin to 'dibolion' a Greek coin worth about threepence halfpenny of our money."

"To give a cold shoulder to a person, i. e., to slight him—is in reference to serving a guest with a cold shoulder of mutton at dinner, the remains of a previous meal; not much of it and what is left but moderate fare."

Patsy Boliver: You ask the origin of "tip." "Don't know whether it came from the Latin or not, but I do know that I have never been able to tip a waiter enough to make him lose his balance."

Barber shop conversation: "You don't suppose Cook will do anything now but hunt foxes. He has killed two and he says their pelts are worth $20.00 each, hence $40.00. No more bartering for him while the fox hunting lasts."

And too, chimed in another, "He has killed two pigs weighing 187 and 228 pounds and there is no need of his work. If he stand all day in the snow and wait for a fox to come within gun shot without complaining, but if he has to stand up to that chair fifteen minutes after shutting up time, he aches and groans all over."

"He hunts alone now," said another. "He won't take chances of the other fellow getting the fox. Fur is too valuable."

Thus the conversation ran in Cook's absence.

John F. Sprague of Sprague's Journal of Maine History remembers us with a patriotic card on which is this statement: "First teach the boy and girl to know and love their own town, county and state and you have gone a long way towards teaching them to know and love their country."

SWEDEN

Two hunters from Bridgton came to Enfield Plummer's Saturday morning, left their car and started out after deer. After traveling awhile they separated and went in different directions, at about three P. M., one of them being familiar with the surroundings, came out to the house but not finding the other fellow he and Wendel Plummer started in search of him. There was a dense fog so one could only see a short distance. They fired rifles until the neighbors thought the Germans had broke loose and were coming up Moose Pond. They halted and hunted and in the meantime Mrs. Plummer was busy at the telephone trying to locate the lost one, and at a little past six they came in wet and tired but alright otherwise.

Edith Ridlon was married Saturday to Chester Russell at Bridgton and has gone to Smith's Mills to reside with her mother.

Income:

Less than 10 Cents a Day!

All the savings bank deposits in Maine would yield an income of less than ten cents per day per family, (average of five people to a family). The average individual deposit would produce about five cents a day for the depositor alone, or his heirs. And yet, the savings banks and trust companies are the bulwark of the people's finances.

It is Time to Talk Thrift

The best way to learn thrift is to buy today a War Savings Certificate and put it away in your bank to draw interest. Compound interest builds up real wealth. Invested property plus Thrift equals Independence. A War Savings Stamp today costs $4.22. It increases in value every month you hold it. A filled certificate, with twenty stamps, will earn you $15.40 and you cannot lose. The Government gives you its bond that your investment is safe to the last cent.

Learn to buy wisely; to save wisely; and invest safely.

Make this experiment in sound finance today; and presently you will be a regular depositor, storing up a competence against the rainy day.

here. I am all rested now and ready to take another trip.

I hope all of you keep from the influenza. Be careful of the slightest cold you get, and if you are sick don't fail to call the doctor, else you can't be any more careful. I must close now and write some other letters. Love to all, Howard.

Dear Father and Mother: Just a line from Paris again, I am on another trip which will last a week, and I will be back tomorrow over Northern France this time.

When I get back will write you all about it am going to send you some Xmas presents from Paris. Isn't that the greatest, Germany has until Monday morning in which to accept our terms and it doesn't she will see the day some time will wish she had. I think I shall be home by spring. I am taking in some wonderful sights the buildings in Paris are simply indescribable. Will write later. Love, from Howard.

Dear Father and Mother: There is a lot of news for me to write to-day, (Nov. 16) for I have just returned from a trip through Northern France. You will be interested to hear all about it of course. Well this is my third trip to Paris. I won't say anything about the first part of the trip for I was in the train all the way and all I saw was from the car window.

There were six of us in the party, all of whom I knew back in the States. We went to a certain city, staid overnight and the next day started back by automobile. The first night we camped in the streets of a big city, slept in the cars. Next day we pushed on and landed in Paris just about the time they got the news of the signing of the armistice. Well, Paris just simply went crazy. The streets were filled with people and imagine the time I had driving through the city. That night two of us got lost so we slept in the cars under "L'Arc de Triomphe"—you have a picture in the book I sent of the place. Next morning we arose early, performed our morning toilet, consisting of rubbing the sand out of our eyes, and started in the general direction of the Hotel du Pavillon. We walked and finally came to the Palais de Glace where we found a Y. M. C. A. We got information as to the direction of the Hotel and started on. Well to make a long story short we landed in the very same spot from which we started. We got disgusted and hailed a taxi and landed at the Hotel du Pavillon within fifteen minutes. We found the rest of the fellows there, parked our cars, and cleaned up. By the way I had to get back to the Champs Elysees to get my car and it took me all the afternoon to get back so you can imagine the crowd I had to make my way through. I had a real bed to sleep in that night. Believe me Paris had some celebration. American soldiers were popular, you may believe.

We staid two days in Paris and on our way back passed over a famous battle-field and through many towns which three months ago were in possession of the Germans. See where they are now. The towns were completely ruined, some of them not a wall left standing. We saw in some houses which were left standing where hand-to-hand encounters occurred. We found an American gun showing where a bullet struck the stock and you could see blood around the place. No doubt the owner of the gun was killed. Many other interesting sights were seen by the Germans and probably the valuables were stolen. Well I'll tell you more about the trips I have taken when I get home.

What do you think of the news? I imagine there was some celebration in the States when they got the news that the Armistice was signed. We may not be back until Spring but I am contented to remain for awhile although it will be a happy day when I see Home Sweet Home again.

I am sending a few souvenirs home The shells are Bocho and fixed up by French soldiers. The big shells I am sending Ed and Grace are French. They make a fine ornament for the mantle. The brisque or lighter I am sending father will come in handy. I take it I am also sending a small shell to Francis. Hope they got there safely. Am feeling fine after my travels and hope everybody at home is in perfect health. Wasn't it too bad about Charles Pike, and so many children left behind who thought so much of him. Hope the epidemic has subsided. Well, must close now, Howard. P. S. Let's call this a letter to all the folks at home for it is time to write the same thing over again. Tell Ed and Grace I think of them even though I don't write as often as I should. H. L. C.

This letter was written Oct. 30 by Esther Klein who is at Mobile Hospital Base No. 1, in France to her sister, Bessie Klein.

My Dear Bessie: Your letter dated Sept. 19 reached me a couple days ago and it is needless to say how glad I was to hear from you and to get that dandy little snapshot, that costume must have been very becoming and I am glad you had such a good time, you didn't tell me what such a good time, you didn't tell me what color it was, but I am guessing that it was red, being a Spanish opera.

Well, indeed, you were right smart to make all that money in one day. I am glad you are working for the Red Cross, they do much for us, give us all our clothes and do many things for our boys. So do all you can for the Red Cross work, your school work, music and amateur theatricals, and gym, and camp-fire and Red Cross, don't try to do too much and don't neglect mother, of course I know you wouldn't intentionally, but some times with so much work on hand we are times likely to overlook the duty which lies nearest to us. But I am not preaching and mother says that she couldn't get along without you, so I guess you are all right.

Did I tell you that Jack came to see me a couple weeks ago, it certainly was a glad surprise, he looked very well and nice, and of course you know that he is now a Captain. He came twice and promised to come again if he could, but he has moved since and we are always on the move and our boys are making such wonderful advances and gaining so much ground that it keeps us going most of the time to keep up with them. Don't you think it wonderful that boys are doing such great work and so could, but the war will soon be over. And are we not glad that Uncle Sam is the one to show the Hun his place?

We had frost on the ground yesterday and to-day and that makes us think of the winter; the nights are long and cold and the air is crisp and extremely cold and I do hope that every thing will be over and that we will be back at our base hospital before snow falls.

We are quite busy our boys are coming in not as badly wounded as they used to be; and the wonderful spirit they show makes us all feel glad that we are here to take care of them, and I guess they are glad too. We still live in tents and our floors are the natural ground, sometimes it is nice grass but most times it is nice sticky mud; for France likes much rain; but we just put on our rubber boots and sweaters and say "Let her rain," but we do get pleasant days and we take all sorts of advantages over it. I wash our clothes and hang it out also our hair; but my hair as yet does not have to be hung out on the line, however one never knows what they are coming to.

Our ride to this location was very interesting. The road on each side was lined with dugouts and there were long stretches of barbed wire entanglements, the trees that were standing were dead, but most of them were cut down. At one time it must have been a very pretty driveway, for there were stumps and large tree trunks at frequent intervals laid flat, you see where even the Germans invaded they ruined everything they could lay their hands on, the little villages we went through were in ruins. I hope that we will be able to give them a taste of their own medicine.

This letter was written by Abe Klein, March 6th, to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Klein.

Nov. 6, 1918.

Dear Folks: Just a few lines to let you know that I am still in the game, and feeling great.

We just got word that Austria has quit and it won't be long before Germany does the same for they cannot stand the game any longer.

We are having a lot of rainy weather which is nothing more than they have every year at this time. Am still working nights, and I am getting so I can sleep a little during the day which I never could do before.

I suppose you hear from Jake and Esther and also Jack. I have not heard from them for quite a while. I have not heard from Sam since I have been in France. Please tell him things are with him. I hear from Gip every two weeks, he is getting along fine and I guess he will not get the chance to come over, which he thought he would.

Written Nov. 2 by Jacob A. Klein to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Klein: Dear Parents: Another week has passed and undoubtedly nearer the end. I hope that before many moons, I will be home with you all. War conditions are looking better each day now and I also believe that it is the beginning of the end. Although no one can say until all is over.

I am getting along very good and am in the best of health. You folks will be surprised to see just how good a condition I have in. I have been going through so much and you just believe me, it was a great deal to go through, too. I am glad Sam is still near home, where he can get home every now and then to see you, and I hope he won't have to leave there at all, probably not if things progress as they are now. I haven't written him for some time, but will try to soon. Tell Brown (Buster) that I received his card O. K. yesterday and I really enjoyed it very much. Things like that are actually encouraging. Tell him, especially to know he has an army by himself, sort of home guard, I guess.

At any rate, I appreciate the card very much and will try to write him soon. Am glad father's crops were so good this year. Jean wrote me all about them. I hope he didn't have much trouble in taking care of them, especially at harvest time.

Zora wrote me that Sam got a fur-lough home in the fall, in order to help with the crops. Bess, be sure to write me more about things at home. How is Mother? You hardly mention her in your letters to me, only by saying she is well. What is Dave doing now? I wish he would write me, am anxious to know what he is planning to do this winter. I hope he won't take it in his head to think that he must enlist, really it is his place to stay so many of us are in the army now, from the family.

We are having pretty good weather, although it is beginning to get quite cold, more especially at night. We have had several frosts lately; I suppose to inform us that winter is coming. Believe me we are getting well prepared for it, by getting of clothing. Well, dear ones, I must bring this to a close now, as I must get busy with the mail.

I hope you are receiving letters from Esther and Abe. I haven't heard from Esther at all. Probably my letter did not reach her. I received a letter from Abe some time ago, and answered it right away, for I was anxious to know how he enjoyed the trip across the Atlantic. I only want to cross it just once more, then I will be satisfied, and if there was a bridge across, I would prefer that instead of going on the boat. Give my regards to all around home. Remember me to Drake and Foss. My love to you all. As ever, Your loving son, "Jacob."

The following letter was written Oct. 26, by Jacob Klein to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Klein.

Dear Folks: All at home: Just a few lines at this time to let you know that I am getting along O. K. I received a letter from you yesterday, which I read with much interest. I also received several letters from Emogene, one from Zora, and Don Whitney, also from Dr. Drake. Believe me, I was very much pleased to get all this mail, especially when not getting much mail. Letters serve as good as tonic to us boys over here.

I hope you all are in the best of health and not worrying. Zora wrote me that Sam gets home quite often, undoubtedly he cheers everybody up as usual. I wish I could drop in on you folks for just a few hours if nothing more. I wish Bess would write me how Dad's crops are doing this year. Why don't Dave write me? You must realize that I am anxious to get the news from home. Don Whitney wrote me a very interesting letter, telling me of the many happenings of the little town, and so did Dr. Drake and Flossie. The girl that works in the office for the doctor.

I am glad you are receiving some of my mail. I write you at least every week, of course there is not much of anything to write you about over here.

When I was at the front, many things were not allowed, as you know. All that I can write you is, that I was a liaison runner at the front, and I have run through many a field being shelled, to carry messages. I can "parlez vous Français" a little so that I could communicate with the French army, who were fighting along side of us. I have been over the top three times and it was in the "Battle of the Marne," where I received my wound. Believe me, there was some real fighting there. The war is looking very bright now, that is all I can say. We are still having plenty of rainy weather, which makes a great deal of mud. I suppose the weather is getting quite cold in the States now.

Oh, by the way, I saw by the Norway paper, which Emogene sent me, that Pert Hildaway is coming over here to assist in French work. I hope he is physically fit, but I doubt it. I suppose the Norway people feel pretty bad to lose such a principal, but probably the change will be a benefit to him. I hope he may be able to get his health back in this way.

I do regret that I didn't take French in high school, especially from Pert. I could get some great jobs now, but at any rate, I am kept pretty busy now. Well, dear ones, I hope you are in the best of health and not worrying about us, who are over here serving Uncle Sam. You must remember that "Everything happens for the best." I hope this will find you all in the best of spirits. Oh, say I received a splendid letter from Helen Cole, my old high school teacher. I was some surprised, believe me. My love to you all. Your ever loving son, Jacob Astor.

Letter received by Mrs. Raymond McAlister of East Stoneham, from her brother, Private Joseph Flanders, A. E. F. written Nov. 7.

My Dear Sister: I received your letter one day last week but haven't had a chance to answer it until now. Everything is the same here, quiet as ever with the exception of air plane fights and anti-air craft guns shooting away at Fritz. Monday we had an observation balloon up and along came Fritz right down out of the clouds and dropped a bomb on both the fellows in it dropped in their parachutes, so they didn't get hurt. The last we saw of Fritz he was hitting Germany with two of our planes right at his heels.

We have had lots of rain here lately and now of course there is more mud than ever, but we have got pretty well used to it now. It doesn't look as though this war was going to last much longer and I am sure I hope it doesn't for we are all anxious to get home for we have got enough of this butchery and destruction and the sooner we get over it the better we will like it.

I would like to be up there just now for a hunting trip, the weather must be dandy there now. I hope that you and Rayn both got a deer. I just got a letter from my wife and one from uncle Charles McKee and I was sure glad to hear from him and the rest of the family. Well Oona there isn't anymore to write this time but I will write again soon. Give my love to Rayn and all the rest take good care of yourself. Lovingly, Your Brother Joe.

A Norway boy "over there" who is too modest to let his name appear in the paper wrote his parents as follows: "This is about the third letter I have written you. Don't know whether you ever get them or not. I sure wish you could see this camp where I am; the most beautiful country I ever saw. We got here night before last and have 48 hours to rest before the trip. I did some washing and gave some to a French woman to do for me. They are allowed to come into camp during the day and sell various things; and, believe me, they are awfully high. I bought two little oranges and they cost me one franc—20 cents. I am beginning to learn the value of French money, but it cost me quite a little before I got next. From now on I get my money changed in French money at the Y. M. C. A., before I buy anything. I played a game of billiards at the 'Y' last night, the first for about five months. The tables were of French make—about half as large as our tables, and I got beaten badly. I can't get over the scenery here; too wonderful, to describe. We travel in box cars. They are little things, about half as long as our cars, and have only four wheels. There were 40 of us to a car and there wasn't room enough for all of us to lie down. The trip was awful, but after we got here it was well worth it, as this is the finest camp I have ever been in. We have pretty comfortable quarters and plenty of places to wash clothes. I had a bath yesterday, the first fresh water bath for more than three weeks. During that time I have had two salt water baths, but they are not very effective; when you get through with one you feel like you had bathed in a tub of syrup. A good looking French girl just went by and said, "Hello," in English. There are some fine looking girls over here and none so good looking, but they all treat us very nice. The women over here can carry more on their head than you can lift. They put a big turban on their heads and carry it on their head and walk away. We wouldn't know there is a war going on over here from their appearance, as this is the most peaceful appearing country that you could imagine. Of course, we are many miles from the front, but have talked to a number of French officers who have been there. They think the war will be over in six months, but guess they know no more about it than we do. Don't worry about me; we get plenty to eat."

NORWAY AND VICINITY

Charles A. Frost has completed the repairs about the stage at Norway Opera House. A new hard wood stage floor has been laid which has been needed for some time.

"Mickey" Welch, Ike Waite, Capt. Waldo Nash, Alton Merrill and Fred Hartman landed 117 pickerel early in the week, through the ice at North Pond. Thirty weighed 1 1/2 pounds each and the remainder not less than three-quarters each. According to authentic yarns, it was some interesting fishing as the party got in on the ground floor early. Clear ice 6 inches thick was found.

Wm. E. Curtis on Winter street knows when he was born as he wrote it into the arithmetic when he was a boy and he recently saw the book: July 4, 1844, in the town of Paris.

A bond salesman who lives in Portland and travels over the state with a Cadillac says he don't know how much it cost. He could only tell what he paid the home garage in Portland. He allowed us to copy the figures as he read them off by the months. The lowest month's bill, February was $5.75 and May cost $136.25 and July $142.01 and the year's total $802.66. He drove the car himself. About 1300 miles was all told. He sold the car at the close of the season for $1200 and will buy a new car for next year.

G. B. Mayberry, ex-sheriff, one-armed veteran and selectman of Casco, was in town on business last Saturday.

The ground about Harriet Klein's home on Paris Street is a picture of thrift and plenty: Four autos and tons of old iron and other things.

"Harry Jackson killed my pig and it weighed 513 pounds." "It couldn't have been a pig, Helle, the weight is too much," was the rejoinder. "Well," added Mr. Dunham, "the pig was 18 months old and I suppose it would be called a hog, but it weighed 513 pounds. I got it of Russ and Soll Jackson and don't know the breed, but it's a good one."

Oscar Bennett and Mrs. W. C. Leavitt recently sent a case of eggs to Boston and got $25.00 less 25 cents.

George W. Whitman on Alpine street is confined in doors. His daughter, Mrs. Bertha Sturtevant is assisting her mother in caring for him. Mr. Whitman is in his eightieth year.

Last Saturday afternoon was the busiest half-day of the year. Streets were filled with anxious buyers and both banks were closed.

A complete history of the war is being sold by Frank Jewell. If the selling of a book isn't war, what is it? Frank says it don't pull on his broken back quite as much as filling snow-shoes would.

What Is Patriotism?

WHILE the fight was on, we gave and loaned millions to our government.

Now the fight is off.

Shall we, who loaned our money THEN, withhold it NOW?

What was our motive for lending to the government?

Was it patriotism—or was it the Fear of the Hun?

The kind of patriotism that grows in Maine should cheerfully continue to face the huge debts of our government—and lend, lend, LEND.

Our government still needs billions of dollars to pay the just price of victory. Its debts must be paid now, with money loaned by the people, regardless of future indemnities from the enemy.

The test of the loyalty, the patriotism of Maine people—of the civilian people of this State—has come. To lend now is pure patriotism, backed by sound business sense.

This State owes to the U. S. Government the duty of lending over five million dollars at good interest and without risk, to pay the car-fare and the food and clothing bills of our own boys in uniform.

That duty is urgent; its discharge is vital. Until it is discharged our State and its people are very justly subject to American and foreign criticism. This duty is personal to every man and woman in Maine. The time is short. Next month will not do.

Killed at Atlanta, Ga.
Leonard D. Randall, 35 years old, and for many years a resident of this town, was run over by a street car in Atlanta on December 5, death being instantaneous. Mr. Randall left Hebron in the fall of 1917 to visit his daughter in Atlanta. Last October this daughter died of influenza and since that time he had been practically alone in the southern city. The fact that he was a Civil War veteran, however, assured him a hearty welcome at the Grand Army headquarters in Atlanta, where he made many friends. The deceased was buried in the Atlanta Post of the Grand Army in the National cemetery in that city. The Post supposed that he had no living relatives, but there are two sons, neither of whose present whereabouts is, however, now known.

Mrs. James Kay accompanied by her daughter, Jessie went to New York to see her soldier son, Jimmie. He is slowly gaining strength and is in good looking shape. Although maimed he realizes he might be worse off. He has the spirit of a true patriot.

SMILE

When you get up in the morning, just smile. And smile on your way into town. You'll feel better all day. If you start out that way. Than you will if you start with a frown. The world is a part of a big looking glass. Where it will reflect how you feel. Where people will do as they see it in you. So it's better to smile a good deal.

CHILDRENS LETTERS

In Farmer Brown's Field

Written by Evelyn Davis of Norway, aged 9 years.

One morning as Jimmy Skunk was running along the little path from his home to the field, he saw Billy Woodchuck by his hole watching for a friend to go for a walk with.

The sun had just peeped over the hills and was getting ready for a days work and smiled down upon the dark earth to make it light. Just then Peter Rabbit came along and asked them if they wanted to go for a walk to get some carrots from farmer Brown's field.

They walked and walked and walked until they reached farmer Brown's field. Just as they were gathering carrots Peter fell into a deep hole. The others were far ahead and Peter cried, "O, O, come and help me!"

They came as fast as they could dropping the carrots behind them. When they were helping Peter out of the hole along came farmer Brown after vegetables for a boiled dinner.

"O, Peter, what shall we do?" the others cried, "we must do something quick, lets run for the stone wall." So Jimmy and Billy ran as fast as their legs would carry them, and called back to Peter, "Keep still as you can."

They jumped over the stone wall and ran into the forest as fast as they could. Peter was a little frightened and afraid farmer Brown saw him. But farmer Brown did not see Peter and after he went, Peter jumped out of the hole and ran to find the others. In the forest found them under a tree resting raffie their long run. Peter told them about his adventures with farmer Brown. Peter and the others ran home and went home glad they were safe.

TO THE RESCUE

The night was dark and stormy; there wasn't a soul on the street, except our brave policeman, Chief Ruggles, passing over his beat. Suddenly a cry broke the stillness; the Chief picked up his ears.

A maiden rushed into his arms, his eyes flashed with tears. He pulled her back in the shadows, and loading his trusty gun, he stepped out on the highway, wishing the deed were done.

Putting on his powerful flashlight, he entered the house by the door. But he found not a single footprint. Though he hunted the house all o'er, then he hastened back to the lady.

"I found not a thing in your house," "Oh, yes! I see," she faintly gasped, "My cat caught it, sir—a mouse."
